Many people come to Sedona because of its geological magnificence and aesthetic appeal. This discussion of geologic time will give us an opportunity to learn more about and reflect on the processes that created this beautiful place where we live. Wayne Ranney is a Flagstaff resident of worldwide renown. He leads tours and talks about geology all over the world, but northern Arizona is the place he knows best. Ranney is the author of Sedona Through Time, Carving Grand Canyon, and Ancient Landscapes. Wayne teaches in NAU’s “Grand Canyon Semester.”
