With the rising influence of climate change, businesses are addressing environmental issues as never before. But is it enough?

Joel Makower, the executive director of Greenbiz.com will provide a preview of his “State of Green Business” report- describing what’s working and what’s not in the growing sector of green business.

Event Sponsors:
The W. A. Franke College of Business, Climate Science and Solutions, The Green Fund, Northern Arizona Center for Emerging Technology, the Center for International Education, the College of Social and Behavioral Sciences, the Environmental Caucus, the Sustainable Economic Development Initiative and the Sustainable Communities Masters program.