Participate in a Student Learning Experience at NAU’s Family Violence Institute to:

- Help provide technical assistance on statewide, national, and international levels.
- Assist with grant writing and proposal development.
- Work with faculty on writing assignments and book length projects.
- Communicate with domestic violence fatality review team members nationally to update information.
- Conduct research in conjunction with field consultants and faculty.
- Help produce national newsletters, assist with marketing projects, and create national conference materials.
- Contribute to statistical analyses.
- Search and review journal articles on emerging issues relevant to the FVI mission.
- Develop professionally by attending local and national trainings.
- Assist with national website maintenance.
- Acquire career building clerical and administrative skills.

NAU’s Family Violence Institute

NAU is committed to promoting healthier, safer, and more sustainable forms of intimate relationships. The university plays an important part in the coordinated community response to family violence in the region and state. Through NAU’s support, the FVI provides students with opportunities to learn about family violence in local, state, national, and international arenas. The FVI houses a variety of grant-funded initiatives. We continue to seek new projects and funding opportunities that will enhance student success and contribute to safer communities.

To begin your own tailored and unique student learning experience, contact Holly Hulen at 928-523-3591 or send an email inquiry and resume to holly.hulen@nau.edu.

WWW.FRASAFFETY.ORG | WWW.NDVFRI.ORG
The Family Violence Institute (FVI) serves as an objective, non-partisan institute for the evidence-informed study of family violence and the various social responses to it. The FVI team conducts research, public policy work, program evaluation, public and professional education, and organizes conferences, trainings and workshops.

Interdisciplinary Learning Experiences

- Innovate and be creative
- Communicate effectively verbally and in writing
- Solve complex problems
- Think critically

Student Opportunities

- Internships
  (for credit; limited stipends available; flexible schedules up to 20 hours per week)

- Undergraduate and graduate research
  (for credit)

- Independent study
  (for credit)

Relevant Disciplines

- Anthropology
- Business
- Communications
- Computer Science
- Criminal Justice and Criminology
- English
- Ethnic Studies
- Health
- History
- Marketing
- Nursing
- Political Science
- Public Policy and Administration
- Psychology
- Social Work
- Sociology
- Women’s & Gender Studies

---

Acquire the skills employers value most, such as the ability to:

- Demonstrate ethical behavior
- Act professionally
- Build civic capacity
- Write grants
- Apply knowledge to real-world settings
- Collaborate in research and learning in a team setting
- Work with colleagues and clients from diverse cultural backgrounds